Building Back Better with Nature

09.30 – 10.15

Welcome - the Nature-based economy in Poland and Europe (Main Stage)

Welcome to Poznan! In this opening session, we set the scene for our Enterprise Summit. We will introduce key concepts around the nature-based economy and nature-based entrepreneurship and hear from different parts of Europe about their nature-based economic support strategies.

Speakers: Jacek Jaškowiak, Mayor of Poznan, Francisco De la Torre, Mayor of Malaga, Agnieszka Osipiuk, Poznan City Hall and Esmee Kooijman, Trinity College Dublin

Chair: Marcus Collier, Chair of the High Level Advisory Board, Connecting Nature (Trinity College Dublin)

Communities of Practice 1 (Sessions Area)

Parallel interactive workshops led by the communities of the Connecting Nature Enterprise Platform

Workshop 1 Green Buildings: Public sector and nature-based enterprises (NBEs) – A match made in heaven for greening up our cities?

With NBS increasingly being used as an approach to problem solving for cities and governments, it is important for cities to connect with NBEs to exchange knowledge and solutions. This session will hear from both sides: city officials will describe their struggles to find the right NBE and from practitioners who have successfully negotiated public sector hurdles to deliver nature-based solutions. Join us for a lively exchange on how to enhance NBE visibility in multi-level government institutions.

Chair: Jonathan Müller, Helix Pflanzensysteme GmbH, Ambassador for Green Buildings Community

Panellists: To be confirmed

Workshop 2 Water Management: Success stories between NBEs and the public sector - showcasing good practice on NBS for water management

In this workshop, we will hear from three outstanding nature-based enterprises that have successfully implemented nature-based solutions for water management in close collaboration with the public sector. If you are interested in learning about evidence-based practice (e.g. sustainable urban drainage systems, floating gardens, etc.), we have set up an exciting panel of experts to share their projects and experiences with you.

Chairs: Ms. Antonia Lorenzo CEO, BIOAZUL SL; Mr. Gerardo González Project Manager, BIOAZUL SL; Community Ambassador for NBS for Water Management

Panellists: Alenka Mubi Zalaznik, Limnos Company for Applied Ecology Ltd, Slovenia; Kamil Zaremba President of Foundation Board, Fundacja OnWater.pl, Poland; Mercedes Pérez Villalón CEO, GCMP Paisajes Resilientes, Spain

Workshop 5 Health & Well-being: Nature based solutions for optimising community mental health and social well-being during and beyond COVID-19

Due to the detrimental impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on individuals and communities, health systems have become overwhelmed. There is renewed interest in how we can use nature for mental health and social wellbeing in innovative ways for the benefit of human and planetary health. New forms of thinking are required to enable human society and the natural world to flourish in the aftermath of the pandemic. ### Workshop 6 Sustainable Forestry

Cities contain a vast amount of trees growing in parks, boulevards, squares, schools, sports fields, highways and forests. Over the last decade, public authorities, small businesses and community organisations in many cities have taken an interest in wood that is sourced from and near urban areas. This is a session for anyone interested in the challenges of addressing sustainable urban forestry.

Chair: Alex Pra, ETIFOR

Workshop 7 Re-wilding the city. New approaches to land use and urban planning/ Ponowne ożywienie miasta. Nowe podejście do użytkowania gruntów i planowania miejskiego

Preserving unused, “wild” spaces in the city is an approach to land use being adopted more by city authorities as a direct response to climate change and the protection of biodiversity. The pandemic has led to an increased demand from our city’s citizens for wild, natural spaces in their cities as they turned to nature and increasingly sought outdoor spaces during lockdowns. While the benefits of having wild spaces in our cities are recognised, city departments have to weigh up multiple challenges to protect these green spaces from development. Join us as we debate the value of unused spaces in our cities. (This workshop will be in Polish with English translation.)

Chair: Dominika Dymek, Poznan City Hall

Panellists: Kasper Jakubowski - Dzieci w Naturę (Children in Nature); Iwona Zwierzchowska and Piotr Lupa - Adam Mickiewicz University (AMU)

Session 1 Including NBS in public tenders: FAQ for NBEs and public authorities

This session will provide tools and guidance for the inclusion of NBS in public tenders. With the help of experts representing both the NBE and the public authority perspective, we will share key definitions and resources on the topics, and provide answers to key questions related to the inclusion of NBS in public tenders through an interactive Q&A. This session will be relevant for both NBEs looking to access the public market for NBS and public authority representatives looking to procure NBS.

Chair: Elsa Durieux, ICLEI

Panellists: Hans Mueller; Managing Director, Helix Pflanzensysteme (Germany); Lene Mayor, City of Frederiksberg (Denmark)

Session 2 The Importance of Intellectual Property (IP) for SME's

This session, delivered by the IPR Helpdesk of the European Commission, will focus on Intellectual Property and why it should be an essential component of strategic planning for start-up's and small-medium enterprises. How to use IP as a business asset, how to protect IP and useful institutions to provide assistance on IP will all be addressed in this informative session.

Facilitators: Michele Dubbini, Senior IP Advisor European IP Helpdesk, Claire Fritz, Senior Project Manager European IP Helpdesk

Session 3 Financing NBS and NBEs

Historically nature-based solutions have largely been financed by the public sector. However, interest is increasing from the private sector and investors. In this workshop we look at some nature-based solution projects that provide a clear return-on-investment for investors. However not all nature-based solutions are sufficiently large-scale or have a clear return-on-investment business model. In this panel we also look at alternative community financing options such as crowdfunding platforms which have been used successfully to secure community financing for projects in public spaces such as community gardens. We also look at corporate social responsibility (CSR) funding of local nature-based solutions projects.

Chair: Prof. Mary-Lee Rhodes, Trinity College Dublin

Panellists: Daan Groot, Naturesquared; Alina Lueckl, Joanneum Institute (ReGreen H2020 project); Ian Goodman, MyParkScotland (crowdfunding platform); Eleftherios Loizou, 'Adopt a Park' Nicosia

Session 4 Powerful evidence for nature-based solutions: identifying opportunities for NBS impact assessment

Impact assessment provides the evidence base for nature-based design in cities, and contributes to attracting investors and raising citizen awareness on their benefits. However, cities often need support in setting up a robust impact evaluation framework, choosing appropriate indicators, collecting relevant data and organizing it to inform decision-making. We will share the lessons learned and gaps identified in developing and implementing impact assessment plans in Connecting Nature, with inspiring examples from the cities of Glasgow, Poznan and A Coruña, and discuss adaptations to contexts outside of the EU. Each of the exposed gaps will be an opportunity for Nature-based enterprises to identify business opportunities, helping cities measure the NBS impact and increase the evidence collected from other urban interventions.

Chair: Adina Dumitru, University of A Coruña

Panellists: David Tomé Lourido (University of A Coruña); City of Poznan and AMU; Antonio Prieto (A Coruña); Mamuka Gvilava (GeoGraphic); Nadina Galle (Internet of Nature); Gillian Dick and Rania Sermpezi (Glasgow City Council)

13.30 – 14.30

Capacity Building Session II (Sessions Area)

Session 5 : Growing your nature-based enterprise

Nature research has shown tremendous potential for nature-based enterprises to grow - increasing their impact on the environment, society and the economy. But how can nature-based enterprises increase their impact? While some may be interested in scaling their business rapidly through impact investment, others are more interested in alternative growth models such as partnership, co-operative or franchise models. In this session we look at alternative models for growth and impact and what supports are available to nature-based enterprises interested in increasing their impact.

Chair: Siobhan McQuaid, Connecting Nature, Trinity College Dublin

Panellists: Mathieu Grosjean, Steinbeis Europa Zentrum (Network Nature H2020 project); Joanne Schante, LGI Consulting; Colm O'Driscoll, Fledge investment in ECOSTAR nature-based accelerator (Italy)

Session 6 Turning Over a New Leaf: Using Arts-Based Approaches to transform Nature-Based Solutions

This session is for those interested in learning about how arts-based approaches and engagement can help guide the design and delivery of nature-based solutions.

Session 8 How to unlock nature-based solutions implementation in Brazil: discussing public procurement of NBS with cities and enterprises

Through UrbanByNature's Brazilian hub, the social and environmental value of nature-based solutions is increasingly recognised in Brazil. Brazilian cities are including the term in their planning documents. However, local governments still face challenges in delivering these solutions, and in particular using public procurement to implement NBS projects. This session aims at promoting a conversation between Brazilian cities and nature-based enterprises around the challenges related to public procurement of NBS in Brazil, aiming at providing participants with a better understanding of the topic. At the end of the session, we will make a collective reflection on how public procurement of NBS can improve its implementation capacity in cities and help develop corresponding future markets.
